

643. 1/2 8
9

THE
WILL
OF A CERTAIN
NORTHERN VICAR:

CAREFULLY COPIED FROM
THE ORIGINAL,
Deposited in his own CABINET,

AT

N----- upon T-----

Here's that wou'd sack a City. SHAKESP.

L O N D O N :

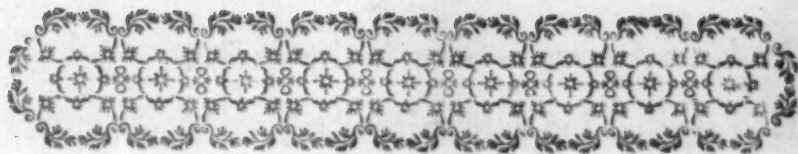

Printed for the AUTHOR;

And Sold by WILLIAM BUNCE, in Russel-Street, Covent-Garden;
WILLIAM CHARNLEY, Newcastle upon Tyne; J. TESSYMAN, at York; J. LEEKE, at Bath—Bristol, &c. &c. 1765.

(Price SIXPENCE.)

THE EDITOR (from the great Desire he has to enforce the Necessity of making W I L L S) thinks it needless to offer any Apology for this Publication; as he is persuaded the PUBLIC will (at once) see the Affair in its true Light.

of the Editor of the Dyer for the purpose of the of making the
it would be to offer any Publication; as he is
P. O. Box will (at once) for the in the time light.

T H E
W I L L
O F
A R E V E R E N D V I C A R.

VICAR once (Lord save us all)
A Lawyer to his house did call,
With full intent to leave his pelf
In trust with those——most like himself;
The Lawyer came——and lookt quite big,
Important, with full bottom'd wig,

B

And

And air supreme——as if the nation
Had waited his determination ;
Then lugging out his pens and paper,
He thus bespoke the rev'rend Vicar :
Your Reverence (I do presume)
For legacies will make some room—
As (Sir) it is a common thing
Before we touch upon the string
Of money matters and so forth,
To leave our goods of greater worth,
As sermons, essays and old tracts,
Which well may pass for certain facts ;
Such things (Sir) of great consequence,
Dispatch'd must be, in lieu of pence :
Then be it so——cries out the Vicar,
First in the list we'll place W. Parker,

To

To him (as he's so very callous)
I give my lecture on the gallows ;
My f-----s (I think) I'll give to W--g-----d,
My sermons to my old friend W--t-----d ;
To Rector L---, in time of need,
I give my treatise on the creed,
And to the reverend Mr. N-----r
My essay on Chevalier Taylor ;
Then to my rev'rend son in law
I give my Essay upon Jaw,
And to his wife (his present load)
My smart remarks on large W. B--g :
To brother Bob (upon my life)
I give my essay upon strife,
And to my learned brother Nat,
My cur'ous sermon on the Bat ;

My

My lecture on the sun and moon,
 I do bequeath to vicar B---n,
 And to my friend archdeacon S---p,
 A cur'ous rod to catch a carp :
 To Phillips too (a cur'ous author)
 Who never meant with truth to barter,
 I doubtless give (tho' I'm no fool)
 To him and heirs—my own c----f---l.
 I give the universities
 A choice receipt to make mince-pies ;
 And to my friends at Lincoln college,
 The neatest way to sup plumb-porridge :
 To lawyer C----r (without doubt)
 My treatise on the Isle of B---r-,
 And to my friends at G---f---d Park,
 My shrewd remarks upon a shark ;

To

To C--l--g---d the laird of U-----

My dissertation on a pickthank,

And to W. G-----n all my load

Of curfes on the turnpike road ;

* * * * *

I give the worthy C-----n

My Essay upon Fornication,

And to the members of the T--n,

(To purchase C-----s) half a crown :

My tract on Elobim and Berith,

I give to alderman W. P-----b,

And to my sweet friend N---- S-----n,

My famous essay on a vixon ;

C

To

To J—y W—g a set of Curls,
 With all my Oriental Pearls :
 I give my treatise upon land
 Unto the rev'rend Doctor B---d,
 And to the beauteous Doctor V--e
 My curious amber-headed cane ;
 My art of fencing (by his leave)
 I give to master Dicky G-----e,
 And washballs too, a curious stock,
 Wou'd scent the devil and all his flock ;
 And all my Epicurean Pans,
 With a Cambrick cloth to wipe his hands :
 My beautiful remarks on slaving
 I give the wise Sir T. C-----g,
 And to my jolly friend Tom L-----e
 My art of playing on the fiddle :

I give

I give my essay upon bacon
To the facetious Nat C-----n,
Likewise my treatise upon swine
I do bequeath to mother B--e,
And to the worthy folks in Lawn
My essay on the best fed Brawn.
I give my family cheese Toaster
Unto the reverend Mr. B-----r,
And to the reverend Mr. D---b
My curious essay upon Starch ;
The secret rare of dressing Dates
I give to the rev'rend Mr. Bates,
And to the reverend Mr. H--l,
By Jove——I'll give him nouse at all :
To Askew too (by way of sport)
I give my essay upon Port,

And

And to my staunch friend, C---y B-----g,

I give my shrewd remarks on Hagling.

My favourite remarks on w-----g,

Unto the rev'rend Doctor J---g,

And to the deep read Mr. L-----e

My lecture trite on a Pismire :

I give Joe G---n (good lad tho' vain)

My sentiments on burnt Champagne ;

To F-----e, (so wond'rous nice)

Of Parma chese—a goodly slice,

And to Ra. G--y my riddles all,

Likewise my essay upon gall :

To Mrs. G--y I certainly will give

My Thoughts on squinting, as I hope to live,

A diamond, that wou'd grace a king,

To Neddy G--y—set in a ring ;

And

And to the excellent Miss S——r

I give my essay upon Fotter :

My Thoughts on venison and sweet sauce

To Doctor Johnson—it is no farce,

And to my learned friend Jack F----b

My late dissection of a Tench :

I give to my friend E----- B-----t

My favourite essay upon Claret,

And to my good friend William O--

The use (and so forth) of a cord :

* * * * *

The verses of Pythagoras,

I give to Sir Lawrence D-----s,

And to my black friend Sturdy Optics

My labour'd treatise upon Caustics ;

D

To

To A-----d too—that worthy knight,

I give my essay on a Fight :

To A-----n (by way of reading)

I give my essay on good breeding,

Then to his wife—the gentle Kitty,

I give my essay upon Pity ;

And to his matchless children three,

My quaint remarks on Tyburn tree.

BUT as to all my stock of wealth,

By G--, I'll keep that to myself.—

Sign'd, Seal'd, Deliver'd, in SIXTY ONE,

By me, the Vicar of B-d---g--n.

F I N I S.

